FRAG/MEN\TED

CAPSULE COLLECTION OVERVIEW

A father's absence is a presence of its own. -JuVee

This licensed capsule presents five archetypal father figures— not figurines, but frameworks for formation.Together, they represent the sacred return of the father: back to self, back to family, and back to society.

Each figure embodies a conversation left unsaid—a silence that shaped the emotional architecture of malekind. These are the spaces where sons learned to survive without instruction, and where fathers forgot how to guide without guilt.

frag/MEN\ted reframes manhood not as performance, but as presence— the ability to stabilize surroundings, design responsible expansion, and steward the relationships and resources entrusted to us. Each figure stands as both mirror and map— a practice field for recovery and repair.

Together, they form a living curriculum on identity, intimacy, and integrity, teaching us that to raise ourselves is not to invent—but to remember.
This collection is not about fixing what is broken.
It is about restoring what was once whole.

THE ART OF PROGRAMMING

Some conversations need a different way in.

Good Juju Gallery travels original art into spaces where learning becomes the environment. Through experiential exhibitions, artist talks and facilitated experiences, JuVee invites audiences to find language for what they see—and what they've been carrying.

A shared invitation to look closer.

How to Host frag/MEN\ted

Each figure offers a different expression of guidance, inviting audiences to examine the support they received, the support they needed and what they now have the capacity to offer.

overview

Created by language artist and cultural architect JuVee, the collection becomes a gathering place for conversations about identity, belonging, emotional expression and the responsibilities of leadership.
For corporations, male athletics teams, higher education institutions and mental health organizations, the work offers a compelling way to bring personal experience into a shared conversation.

Bring the work into your world.

Programming can be shaped around:

- Corporate gatherings: Explore identity beyond achievement, the practice of listening and the relationships that support leadership.

- Male athletics teams: Create space to examine who an athlete is beyond performance—and what it means to give and receive support.

- Higher educational institutions: Connect students, faculty and campus communities through conversations about fatherhood, identity and belonging.

- Mental health organizations: Use art as an entry point into dialogue about emotional wellbeing, connection and seeking support.

Available formats include collection residencies, artist talks, facilitated conversations, panels, conference programming and ticketed public events.
